Davidson Plans To Completely Gallop The State This Month With Many Strong Speakers---

Other Talk.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Aug. 10.—State Treasurer Kempt is accused of violating the law by having paper discounted by banks, which are carrying state deposits. Mr. Kempt at Madison today asserted that no violation of the law had been committed, nor had the banks given him any credit or favors which were not accorded to any business man.

Private Business.

"In the course of my private business," he said, "paper of other people comes into my hands, and like other business men I have it discounted so as to get the ready money for use. The banks knew it was in connection with my private business and had nothing to do with the state deposits. If a state treasurer is not permitted to receive accommodations from banks with which he does business regularly, even though they be state depositaries, he could not continue in private business while in office."

Speakers For Davidson.

A new impetus was given to the Davidson-Cunneen campaign today by the appearance of William J. Essman in charge of the Milwaukee headquarters. Mr. Essman announced that a speaking campaign would be commenced at once. Among those who will take the stump for Governor Davidson are former Governor W. D. Hoard, Attorney General L. M. Sturdevant, L. K. Eaton, chief clerk of the senate, R. M. Bashford, C. E. Buell and C. W. Gillman. Next week will be spent by Governor Davidson in Oconto, Brown, Calumet, Sheboygan, Kewaunee, Ozaukee and Milwaukee counties.

MINNEAPOLIS FEELS THE INFLUX ALREADY

Though Encampment is Three Days Off the Crowds Begin to Arrive Already.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 10.—Although the date for the opening of the annual national encampment of the G. A. R. is three days distant, many visitors began pouring into Minneapolis today. The influx of visitors, beginning early this morning, was somewhat unexpected, but the local committees were equal to the emergency and guides were soon stationed at the depots to meet the incoming trains and escort the visitors to quarters. Already the city is assuming gala attire and by tomorrow night the business section will be aglow with the national colors.

Commander-in-chief Tanner established national headquarters at the West hotel today. His official staff reported for duty at the same time. The national council of administration, which has entire charge of the affairs of the G. A. R., will meet Monday to listen to the report of its executive committee, and transact its business. The grand parade, the big event of the week, will take place Wednesday.

American Canoe Association Goes In to Camp at Sugar Island For a Week.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Frontenac, N. Y., Aug. 10.—The annual encampment and regatta of the American Canoe Association opened today on Sugar Island, the association's property near Gananoque. The races will begin next Wednesday and continue for one week. Already many canoeists have arrived, about 150 being now in camp and a number of others are expected before the end of the week. The location of the camp is particularly well adapted for canoeing purposes, and especially convenient for the Canadians, and the men of the eastern division, which includes all of New England. The racing interest will be very keen this year, and from present appearances it looks as though the entries would be larger and contain more of America's canoeists than in previous years. The regatta program has been carefully arranged, the various events including all varieties of sailing and paddling, with the usual upset, hurry-scurry, club four paddling, war canoe and swimming events.

The list of events is practically the same as in former years with the exception of the octuple race, which has been omitted because of lack of interest. The program calls for twelve races, ranging from the intermediate single scull shells to the senior eight-oared shells. The entry list includes the pick of the amateur oarsmen of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington and the middle west. A large crowd is on hand to witness the races and considerable betting is being done.

Mr. Timmothy McKeigue was in Rockford to invite them to join with the local order. It was gladly accepted but as the Rockford aeris showed no inclination to make an excursion from that city on object to the Eagles, they will take the excursion to this city and join the excursionists here. The Janesville, Jefferson and Rockford aeris will have uniforms alike for the big parade and will in all probability have a band accompany them to the Wisconsin metropolis.

Edgerton, Aug. 10.—Henry Whitaker was born in New Salem, Mass., Sept. 11, 1827. He was the son of Captain Joseph Whitaker, who served in the war of 1812, and Sally Thompson Whitaker both of whom were of Puritan descent.

At the age of seven years his parents moved to Houlton, Me., where his father soon afterward died. All his boyhood and early manhood was passed in Houlton and the provinces. In 1852 accompanied by his mother he came to Wisconsin and settled at Indian Ford where he engaged, in company with his brother-in-law, W. T. Hall, in the mercantile business but after a short time he sold his store and bought the farm where he has since resided. He was married April 12, 1860, to Louise Brace who died January 11, 1897. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. I. L. Wentworth and Mrs. C. L. Culton, and four grandchildren. He was one of the last of the pioneer settlers of this vicinity, that class of people who will always stand as representative of the trials, hardships and perils of a new country nobly combated and conquered, who have watched for fifty or sixty years the turn of the wheel bringing both light and shadow, who have made possible the conditions of today. These things different from what any others can ever be. Mr. Whitaker was a man who counted many friends, plain and unassuming he was always ready to lend a helping hand to any one in distress and was especially noticeable for his cheerfulness and patience under all circumstances.

He died Saturday, August 4, 1906, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wentworth. Funeral services were held at the home of I. L. Wentworth Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, conducted by Rev. L. A. Parr, after which he was tenderly laid to rest in Passett cemetery.

GRAIN RATE CUT BY STATE BOARD
REDUCTIONS AFFECT SHIPMENTS TO MILWAUKEE.

TAKES EFFECT AT ONCE
Towns in Rock County That Are Affected by the Decision Handled Down Thursday.

As announced Thursday in the Gazette the railroad rate commission of Wisconsin has issued an order reducing rates on grain shipped from the interior to Milwaukee, the reductions ranging from 10 to 25 per cent. About 800 stations in all are affected. The order will tend to increase the importance of Milwaukee as a grain center as it will now receive a much larger proportion of the 175,000,000 bushels of grain raised in the state than heretofore. The grower is also expected to be considerably benefited. The railroad companies have twenty days within which to appeal to the circuit court of Dane county to restrain the enforcement of the order.

The hearings on the matter and the private investigations of the commission have been in progress most of the time during the last year. Formal petitions for reductions in the rates were filed by Assemblyman O. C. Kinney of Colfax and Secretary of State W. L. Hanson of Monona. The reductions affect both Colfax and Monona, the decrease in the former case being from 12 1/2 to 11 cents per hundred pounds and in the latter case from 13 to 11 1/2 cents.

The petition of Mr. Kinney was against the Wisconsin Central and that of Mr. Hanson against the Chicago and North-Western and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha roads. The order of the commission also includes the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road.

The commission says that while perhaps its investigations have not been as thorough and complete as might be desired; it is impelled to issue the order at this time because the grain crops will soon be moving and the shippers would get less benefit if it were issued later. Any errors or inequalities will be taken up and corrected later, the commission says. The new rates in one or two instances are a trifle higher than the older ones, but this was made necessary because of the length of the haul, upon which principle so far as possible the new schedules are based.

In Rock County, a list of the specific stations affected in Rock county with the old and new rates from such points to Milwaukee are as follows, the figures being the rates in cents per hundred pounds:

RINGLINGS' CAR HAS ARRIVED IN CITY

No. 1 Car is on Scene and City is Gay With Posters and Banners.

The arrival today of Ringling Bros. advertising car number 1 and the combined efforts of its big force of bill posters served to afford lovers of circus amusement no small amount of satisfaction. For many weeks speculation has been in full force regarding the exact date Ringling Bros. had selected for Janesville and it was not until recently that the matter was arranged. Gratifying conditions in the northwest caused the firm to visit that country instead of the territory originally selected, therefore the Janesville date was changed several times. Now that the vanguard has put in an appearance and the flaming posters of official significance have been posted, the small boy may rest assured that Friday, August 21, will afford a day of tremendous excitement. There will also be some stir in other quarters; noticeably an inexplicable solicitude for the broadening of Johnny's education, which will induce dad, uncle, grandpa and several aunts in every family to accompany some young scion to the tented arena. In explaining the many features Ringling Bros. are presenting this season, the press agent feels certain that "The Field of the Cloth of Gold," involving a cost of 1,200 characters, a ballet of 300 and a singing chorus of 200, deserves special mention. This radiant and massive spectacle is intended to reproduce the famous meeting of Francis I. of France and Henry VIII. of England at Ardres to frame a treaty for the maintenance of peace in Europe. "Elaborate scenic effects and brilliant costumes are claimed for this act, which by the way, is employed to open the circus performance. This truly great circus has become so gigantic in size that the old custom of stake driving has taken a "back seat" for the new invention in driving machines. The stake-driving outfit consists of gasoline engines and small pile driving machines mounted on wagons. "Stake after stake is fed into these machines and driven deep and straight, doing away with the slow mode of olden times. Ringling Bros. have not eliminated the parade as the other showmen have done, therefore their date of exhibition may be looked forward to by the merchant as well as the lover of the street pageant.

TWO MILLION IS ESTIMATED COST

APPROXIMATE PRICE OF NEW LINE TO MADISON.

FROM MADISON TO CHICAGO
Construction of the Road Will Open Long Line of Travel Through Beautiful Country.

By the extension of the street car line now operating in this city to Madison, which has just been undertaken by a syndicate of financial and railroad men, a chain of electric interurban roads between Chicago and Madison will be completed. Dickinson MacAllister, who engineered the construction of the Metropolitan Elevated railroad in Chicago, and who for nine years operated it as receiver, and also as its president, and H. H. Clough who built the Rockford, Beloit & Janesville road, are in charge of the construction work which is about to begin.

Chicago to Madison.
Upon the engineering and statistical reports of Messrs. Clough and MacAllister the Janesville & Madison Railway company, whose capital stock is $1,500,000, and whose bond issue is $1,500,000, decided to build fifty miles of electric road.

Lower Rates.
When this is completed a passenger may travel by electric line from Chicago to Madison at a lower rate of fare than is paid on steam roads, through one of the most picturesque and beautiful sections of Wisconsin.

Other Links in Chain.
The Aurora, Elgin & Chicago railroad will take a passenger from Chicago to Elgin; the Elgin & Belvidere road, which is being completed, and which is scheduled to be opened by Oct. 1 will carry the passengers to Belvidere. From Belvidere to Rockford, and from Rockford to Janesville the Rockford & Interurban railroad operates its lines.

The Last Link.
The last link to Madison will have fifty miles of track and will pass through the towns of Edgerton, Stoughton and Madison. Its route, passing a number of summer resorts and near Lake Kegonsa, Koshkonong, Waubesa and Monona, will traverse the tobacco and agricultural fields of Wisconsin.

Expert Engineers at Work.
Mr. MacAllister, who is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and an expert in both the construction and operating branches of the electric railroad work, declares that the chain between Chicago and Madison will constitute one of the most attractive interurban roads in the country.

Completing Plans.
He is now in Chicago completing plans and specifications, while two parties of expert engineers are traversing the ground of the proposed route of the interurban road. The cost of the work will be about $2,000,000.

BRODHEAD.
Brodhead, Aug. 10.—The members of the Eastern Standard and their families picnicked at Willard's Park Friday afternoon.

It is a Danish proverb that "we must sow even after a bad harvest." And even after a half-success in a campaign of store-advertising we must advertise again!

BALL CARTRIDGE.
When Napoleon Bonaparte, Major-General of Artillery, had dissolved the last disorderly remnants of the French revolution with the historic whiff of grapeshot, he was asked if he had fired with blank cartridges. He replied, "No; to do so would have been a criminal waste of life." Both in this country and in England when troops are called upon to assist the civil power in the enforcement of order, any officer who gave the order to load with blank cartridge would certainly be court-martialed and probably dismissed from the service.

At the latest horrible lynching party at Salisbury, North Carolina, when six negroes were taken out of the hands of justice and executed without trial, the local militia were ordered to load with blank cartridge. In addition to the victims of the lynching, at least one man was killed by pistol shooting in the crowd, and four men were seriously wounded, including one of the military. It is said that the company had the governor's order not to shoot. It is difficult to believe this. Such an order would be perfectly well known to the crowd and the presence of an impotent body of state troops would merely give official tolerance to murder.

Among the murderers of the six negroes and of the inoffensive civilian must certainly be held the official responsible for the order to the troops to load with blank cartridge. It is no excuse that a similar folly has been committed in such circumstances elsewhere. A mob is essentially cowardly and never shows real courage except when such an order as this proves that the authorities are afraid of it. Sheriff Julian told the lynching mob a great truth when he said: "You men of property will suffer for this." Violation of law is always injurious to property, and no violation is more injurious than a violation by capital.

McGILLIVRAY'S WORK.
Under this caption the Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin throws out the following eulogy on McGillivray and Davidson. The Wisconsin really appears to have waked up.
"State Senator McGillivray is doing excellent work in the northern part of the state, exposing weak places in the record of Irving L. Lenoir as a legislator. His meeting at Superior Monday evening, was considerably the largest political assemblage which has occurred anywhere in Wisconsin so far during the present campaign. The audience, consisting chiefly of workmen, was heartily in sympathy with the speaker of the evening. The Superior Telegram, in its report of the affair, says, 'The crowd was attentive at all times and enthusiastic sometimes.' Senator McGillivray made the following reference to Gov. Davidson:
"While we are taking a deep interest in politics of the state the governor of Wisconsin deserves a tribute from every man casting a vote and from every man sharing protection in our midst. Fenianism as a Norwegian boy, he has come to our notice today by earnest, persistent and honest labor. Filling the place of a tailor then as a successful merchant, serving two terms in the state legislature, praised for his carefulness as state treasurer, broadminded and impartial as lieutenant governor, economical, fair and always willing to take a step forward in the name of justice as governor, he now seeks the nomination of governor on the Republican ticket, before the primary election September 4, 1906. With a record behind him to be proud of and with the business experience necessary to qualify him for the high office, I can at this time recommend him to the voters of the state and believe Gov. Davidson will make a square, honest, and an impartial governor; and I further believe that the Republicans in this state could not at this time honor a man better fitted to hold the office of governor than James O. Davidson."

The voluntary campaign work which Senator McGillivray is doing up north will undoubtedly make thousands of votes for Davidson and Connor, both of whom are the logical candidates for combating the state of things in the present political campaign to which men who believe in the principles of the primary election law indignantly object.

of the planks from the Jackson street bridge and have rustic seats made. They would be much more fitting than would a gayly painted bench with an inscription "Use Pink Pills" or "Go to Jim Jams For Tablets," for the eyes of visitors to be met with. There is a place for everything and advertising dodges in such a park as is the Court House one should not be tolerated. If the city is too poor to buy benches let the people who enjoy the park, sit on the grass but do deface nature with advertising. It is obsolete.

Robert Marion La Follette, United States Senator from Wisconsin, will deliver an address at the Myers Opera House a week from Saturday evening. It will be interesting to listen to this address in view of the fact that two years ago he bitterly condemned men who stood in the same position he does now, as United States Senator, who entered into a state campaign.

What Janesville should secure is the service of a first class city engineer to carefully go over all the proposed improvements and pass judgement upon the plans no under consideration. It might prevent another catastrophe similar to the present one on Washington street.

Congressman Cooper over in Racine is visiting with friends and the Edgerton Reporter asks who he is, "the man who lives in Washington, sends a few weeks each year in the first district and still represents it in congress." Every one knows Nolan lives in the district.

The council has decided that the general fund shall pay for part of the damage done by the storm in the first ward. Perhaps that sounds all right to a few but to the tax payers in general it is an imposition that ought not to be allowed.

"La Follette is Coming." The perspiring followers of Lenoir in the state must feel as joyful as did the English Garrison at Lucknow when they heard the bag pipes of the relieving force play "The Campbells are Coming."

Messrs Connor and Davidson can feel pretty well assured that the first congressional, as intelligent a disdistract as any in the state, know a spade when they see it and have made up their minds how they will vote on the governorship proposition.

During the course of a little sermon on morals at a Sunday school the instructor said: "An excellent way, children, when you are in doubt as to whether a thing is right or wrong is to follow the rule never to do anything which you would be ashamed to have the whole world see." It is all very well for pinchback husbands and haberdasher economists to deliver homilies on luxury and finery and the evils of extravagance—lace, chiffons, rubbons, trinkets and frills are as indispensable to the wellbeing of womankind as walkingsticks, watches, footballs and whiskeys are to the comfort and welfare of serious man.—London Observer.

The boys and girls of New Zealand must have singularly commercial minds, if a letter written by one young New Zealander, and quoted in an English paper, is typical. Deplorable drainage conditions obtaining at the Five Points were discussed and as a means of remedying them it was deemed advisable that the railroad tracks at this point which are above grade should be lowered. # The Manager Of the B. & A.

By VAUGHAN KESTER

Copyright, 1901, by Harper &amp; Brothers

She looked at him from under her long lashes; while the color slowly mounted to her cheeks.

"You're not going to tell him what you think you know?"

"The doctor smiled.

"I wish you would grant me the possession of ordinary sense, Constance. I am not quite a fool."

"You are a precious," she said, kissing him.

"Thank you. What message shall I give Oakley from you?"

"None."

"None?"

"He won't want to hear from me," shyly.

"Why not?"

"Because he just won't, papa. Besides, I expect he has forgotten that such a person ever lived."

"I wouldn't be too sure of that. What was the trouble, Constance? You'd better tell me, or I may say something I shouldn't."

"Oh, you must not say anything!"—in alarm—"you must promise."

"Constance, what did Oakley say to you that last day he was here at the house?"

Constance's glance wandered meditatively from her father's face to the window and back again, while her color came and went. There was a faraway, wistful look in her eyes and a sad little smile on her lips. At last she said softly: "Oh, he said a number of things. I can't remember now all he did say."

"Did Oakley tell you he cared for you?"

Constance hesitated a moment, then, reluctantly:

"Well, yes, he did. And I let him go, thinking I didn't care for him; miserably and with a pathetic droop of her lids, from which the smile had fled. 'I didn't know, and I have been so unhappy.'"

"Oh!"

Constance left the room abruptly.

When he reached New York the first thing the doctor did was to look up Oakley. He was quick to notice a certain constraint in the young man's manner as they shook hands, but this soon passed off.

"I am awfully glad to see you," he said. "I have thought of you again and again, and I have been on the point of writing you a score of times. I haven't forgotten your kindness to me."

"Nonsense, Oakley. I liked you, and it was a pleasure to me to be able to show my regard," responded the doctor, with hearty good-will.

"How is Mrs. Emory and Miss Emory?"

"They are both very well. They were just a little hurt that you ran off without so much as a goodbye."

Oakley gave him a quick glance.

"She is—Miss Emory is still in Antioch?"

The doctor nodded.

"I didn't know but what she might be in the city with you," Dan explained, with evident disappointment.

"Aren't we ever going to see you in Antioch again?" inquired the doctor. He put the question with studied indifference. Dan eagerly scanned his face. The doctor nodded awkwardly.

"Do you think I'd better go back?" he asked, with a perceptible dwelling on the "you."

The doctor's face became a trifle red. He seemed to weigh the matter carefully, then he said:

"Yes; I think you'd better. Antioch would like mightily to lay hands on you."

"Dan laughed happily.

"You don't suppose a fellow could dodge all that, do you? You see, I was going west to Chicago in a day or so, and I had thought to take a run out to Antioch. As a matter of fact, Cornish wants me to keep an eye on the shops. They are doing well, you know, and we don't want any falling off. But, you understand, I don't want to get let in for any fool hysteresis," he added impatiently.

"Notwithstanding the supposed confidence in which telegrams are transmitted, Brown, the day man at Antioch, generally used his own discretion in giving publicity to any facts of local interest that came under his notice. But when he wrote off Dr. Emory's message announcing that he and Oakley were in Chicago and would arrive in Antioch the last of the week he held it for several hours, not quite knowing what to do. Finally he delivered it in person, a sacrifice of official dignity that only the exigencies of the occasion condoned in his eyes. As he handed it to Mrs. Emory he said:

"It's from the doctor: You needn't be afraid to open it; he's all right. He'll be back Saturday night, and he's bringing Mr. Oakley with him. I came up to see if you had any objection to my letting the town know."

Mrs. Emory saw no reason why the knowledge of Oakley's return should be withheld, and in less than half an hour Antioch, with bated breath, was discussing the news on street corners and over back fences.

"That night the town council met in secret session to consider the weighty matter of its reception; for by common consent it was agreed that the town must take official action. It was suggested that he be given the freedom of the city. This sounded large and met with instant favor, but when the question arose as to how the freedom of the city was conferred the president turned, with a slightly embarrassed air, to the member who had made the motion. The member explained, with some reserve, that he believed the most striking feature had to do with the handing over of the city keys to the guest of honor. But unfortunately Antioch had no city keys to deliver. The only keys that by any stretch of the imagination could be so called were those of the courthouse, and they were lost."

Here an appeal was made to the Hon. Jeb Barrows, who was usually called in to straighten out any parliamentary tangles in which the council became involved. That eminent statesman was leaning dreamily against a pillar at the end of the council chamber. On one of the cards he had already pencilled the brief suggestion, "Feed him and have out the band."

He handed the card to the president, and the council heaved a sigh of relief. The momentous question of Oakley's official reception was settled.

When Dan and Dr. Emory stepped from No. 7 Saturday night the station platform was crowded with men and boys. The brass band, which Antioch loved with a love that stifled criticism, perspiring and in dire haste, was turning the street corner half a block distant. Across the tracks at the railroad shops a steam whistle shrieked an ecstatic welcome.

Dan glanced at the doctor with a slightly puzzled air.

"What do you suppose is the matter?" he asked unobtrusively.

"Why, man, don't you understand? It's you!"

There was no need for him to say more, for the crowd had caught sight of Dan and a hundred voices cried:

"There he is! There's Oakley!"

And in an instant Antioch, giving way to wild enthusiasm, was cheering itself black in the face, while above the sound of cheers and the crash of music the steam whistle at the shops shrieked and pealed.

The blood left Oakley's face. He looked down at the crowd and saw Turner Joyce, he saw McClintock and Holt and the men from the shops, who were, if possible, the noisiest of all. He turned helplessly to the doctor.

"Let's get out of this," he said between his teeth. The crowd and the noise and the excitement recalled that other night when he had hidden into Antioch. As he spoke he swung himself down from the steps of the coach, and the crowd closed about him with a glad shout of welcome.

The doctor followed more slowly. As he gained the platform the Hon. Jeb Barrows hurried to his side.

"Where is he to go, Doc?" he panted. "To your house or to the hotel?"

"To my house."

"All right, then. The crowd's spoiling the whole business. I've got an address of welcome in my pocket that I was to have delivered, and there's to be a supper at the risk tonight. Don't let him get away from you!"

Meanwhile Dan had succeeded in exciting himself from the clutches of his friends and was struggling toward a closed carriage at the end of the platform that he recognized as the Emorys'.

In his haste and the confusion of the thousands who wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and receive valuable advice absolutely confidential and free

There can be no more terrible ordeal to delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private life, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.

This is also the reason why thousands upon thousands of women are corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. To her they can confide every detail of their illness, and from her great knowledge, obtained from years of experience in treating female ills, Mrs. Pinkham can advise sick women more wisely than the local physician.

Read what Mrs. Pinkham helped Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Ia. She writes: "I can truly say that you have saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude in words. Before I wrote to you telling you how I felt, I had doctored for over two years steadily, and spent lots of money in medicines besides, but it all failed to do me any good. I had female trouble and would daily have fainting spells, headache, bearing-down pains, and my monthly periods were very irregular and finally ceased. I wrote to you for your advice and received a letter full of instructions just what to do, and also commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I have been restored to perfect health. Had it not been for you I would have been in my grave to-day."

Mountains of proof establish the fact that no medicine in the world equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for restoring women's health.

October twilight he supposed the figure he saw in the carriage to be the doctor, who had preceded him, and called to the man on the box to drive home.

As he settled himself he said reproachfully:

"I hope you hadn't anything to do with this."

A slim, gloved hand was placed in his own, and a laughing voice said:

"How do you do, Mr. Oakley?"

He glanced up quickly and found himself face to face with Constance Emory.

BOARD CUTS GRAIN TARIFF

IMPORTANT RULING BY WISCONSIN RAILWAY COMMISSION.

Cut of Practically One Cent a Bushel Affects Every Railroad Doing Business in the State.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 10.—Grain rates for the state of Wisconsin will be reduced practically one cent per bushel by an opinion of the railway commission, handed down Thursday.

This is the most important decision that has ever been rendered by the Wisconsin commission. The order will affect all of the railroads operating in the state of Wisconsin.

The matter was started by a complaint made by O. G. King against the Wisconsin Central and later by a complaint of W. L. Houser, against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Minneapolis & Omaha and the Chicago & Northwestern.

The matter was conducted as an investigation of grain rates between stations in Wisconsin and Milwaukee by the railway commission acting on its own motion. The two complaints involved grain rates from Colfax and Hondo to Milwaukee only.

The commission notified the railroad companies that a complete investigation would be made on their own initiative of the whole question and the railroad companies appeared at a formal hearing, July 10, when sworn testimony was received at that time on the matter.

The independent investigation of the commission with reference to these grain rates dates almost back to the time of organization and an elaborate statistical compilation had been made before the first hearing.

The hearings in the matter of passenger rates have contributed much to an exact solution of the question.

BANK CASHIER SURRENDERS

Official of Closed Chicago Institution Found by Reporters.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Henry W. Hering, the missing cashier of the bankrupt Milwaukee Avenue State bank, gave himself up to the Chicago police Thursday afternoon. He declared that he had been in Chicago since Monday morning.

Hering was found, not by the police, but by newspaper reporters, to whom he made a statement Wednesday night and promised to surrender to the police Thursday.

Although a number of persons knew the whereabouts of Hering, the police made no demand on them to produce him.

An amazing story of loose and criminal banking methods will be revealed by Hering, the police and Bank Examiner C. C. Jones believe. More specific information about Stensland's operations. It is thought, will make him out a man whose greatest asset was the ability he had to win the friendship and confidence of the people who gave him their money. Each business deal made his straits more desperate.

LARGE YIELD OF WINTER WHEAT

Illinois Board Reports Increase of Nearly Five Million Bushels.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 10.—The state board of agriculture issued a bulletin Thursday afternoon stating that reports from its correspondents in Illinois show that the yield of winter wheat in Illinois this year is 27,365,552 bushels, an average of 30 bushels per acre, an increase of 4,906,332 bushels over 1905.

Quality of wheat this year is reported as excellent and free from cheat and dirt. Yield of spring wheat in state is 1,692,122 bushels. Area of oats harvested is 3,018,295 acres, giving a total yield of 90,971,381 bushels, or 34,892,943 fewer bushels than last year.

The condition of corn on August 1 is but $1 per cent. of the seasonal average, which is a decrease of eight points since June 29, and 15 points below August 1, 1905, and four points below the ten-year average. There was great damage done by a drought of 60 days duration.

PRAISE FOR AMERICAN WOMEN

Suffragists Please Newspaper Men in the Danish Capital.

Copenhagen, Aug. 10.—The delegates to the conference of the International League of Women Suffragists had another busy day Thursday.

The newspapers are enthusiastic over the American delegates, especially dwelling on the oratorical powers of the Rev. Anna E. Shaw and Ida Husted Harper, and the presidential ability of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. They print portraits of all the Americans.

The fashionable Ladies' club gave a reception in honor of the delegates.

Useless British Territory.

No other empire in the world owns so much absolutely useless territory as the British. Banks Land, Prince Albert Land, Victoria and Baffin Land, with hundreds of other arctic islands and lands, are at present quite useless.

INTERSTATE BOARD BESTOWS PRAISE

GIVES CREDIT FOR SUCCESS IN REBATE CASES.

SAYS MOODY WAS RIGHT

Action of Attorney General in Refusing to Prosecute Paul Morton Said to Be Justified by Developments in the Courts.

Washington, Aug. 10.—In a statement issued Thursday by the interstate commerce commission regarding the conviction of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company for violating the law with respect to the giving of rebates, the commission says:

"The avowed purpose of the practice tends to support the view 'that there was no criminal intent on the part of Paul Morton, former secretary of the navy and former head of the traffic department of the Santa Fe, and the other railroad officials involved."

The statement calls attention to the fact that with the imposition of the $15,000 fine on the railroad "the history of the famous Santa Fe rebate case is practically closed" and praises President Roosevelt and Attorney General Moody for carrying out with success the administration's declared purpose to enforce the statute in all such cases. The statement is as follows:

"With the recent conviction of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company and the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, and the fine of $15,000 imposed upon each, in the federal court of New Mexico, for violation of the interstate commerce laws through giving rebates, by the railway company to the fuel and iron company, the history of the famous Santa Fe rebate case is practically closed."

Defends Administration.

"Too much praise cannot be accorded to Attorney General Moody in carrying this case through to a successful termination and that, too, after the adverse criticism in many journals of the refusal of the administration to undertake the prosecution of Paul Morton, then secretary of the navy, and formerly head of the traffic department of the Santa Fe system. The attorney general in disagreeing with Messrs. Harmon and Judson, who had been employed by the government to make a preliminary investigation, acted plainly with foreknowledge of the legal difficulties that attended every step in the attempted prosecution of Mr. Morton and other officials in this peculiar case, which really grew out of a long standing practice intended primarily to develop the coal industry in Colorado and New Mexico, which really did have that effect, and which only became conspicuously lawful after the passage of the Elkins law in 1903, and the courageous investigation and report of the facts by the interstate commerce commission to the attorney general."

No Criminal Intent.

"There was a technical violation of the law involved in the transaction, as has always been plain, but that there was criminal intent on the part of Mr. Morton and the other officials involved has always been denied; and the avowed purpose of the practice tends to support that view. On the other hand, it is not difficult to prosecute the corporations themselves, and upon an agreed statement of facts presented to the court, the lines above mentioned were imposed. It will be remembered that the department of justice first sought to use this case and others in the Kansas City federal court to establish contempt on the part of the Santa Fe, which was then under injunction issued in omnibus form and covering all traffic against that carrier and numerous other carriers engaged largely in carrying grain, grain products, livestock and livestock products, on account of rebates shown to have been granted generally on such traffic in a former investigation by the interstate commerce commission. This attempt to establish contempt by showing rebates in coal failed, the court holding that a general injunction could not lawfully issue."

Cost Road Large Sum.

"Later on, a civil case brought against the Santa Fe by coal mining companies discriminated against in favor of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company was settled by the payment of something like a half million dollars, and now has followed the convictions as above stated of the railway company and the fuel and iron company."

"This apparently ends a famous chapter in the history of litigation under the interstate commerce laws. Primarily the interstate commerce commission deserves the credit of initial investigation and public report, but the great need of praise is due to Attorney General Moody and, of course, President Roosevelt, in again carrying out with success the declared purpose of the administration to enforce this great statute in all practicable ways."

Parisians in Paris.

How many Parisian people born in Paris are there living in Paris at the present time? According to the last census about 36 per cent. of the total population. Paris has the smallest indigenous population of any European capital. St. Petersburg has 40 per cent., Berlin 41 per cent., Vienna 45 per cent., London 65 per cent.

Sense Comes with Age.

What a blessing it is that so few women marry the fellows they were in love with at 16!

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

The laws of nature and heredity are fixed and invariable. Parents who are related by the ties of blood, or who have a consumptive tendency, or family blood taint, are sure to transmit it to their children in the form of Scrofula. Swollen glands, brittle bones, weak eyes, hip disease, pale, waxy complexion, emaciated bodies, running sores and ulcers, and general weak constitutions are the principal ways in which the disease is manifested. Those who have inherited this blighting trouble may succeed in holding it in check during young, vigorous life; but after a spell of sickness, or when the system has begun to weaken and lose its natural vitality, the ravages of the disease will become manifest and sometimes run into consumption. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and forces out the scrofulous deposits, kills the germs and completely cures the disease. It changes the quality of the blood by removing all impurities and poisons and supplying this vital fluid with rich, health-sustaining qualities. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable medicine and is especially adapted to systems which have been weakened and poorly nourished by scrofulous blood. Literature on Scrofula and medical advice free.
